

TUESDAY, OCT. 5

7:00-8:30 pm

at the Twisp Grange

WESTERN GRAY SQUIRREL

Squirrel researchers from the University of Washington and Pacific Biodiversity Institute (based in Winthrop) and WDFW volunteer citizen-scientists are studying the squirrels in our back yard.

- See what they are learning.
- Hear how you can help.
- Learn more about ecology and biodiversity in the Methow Valley.

+ Plus, explore the hands-on world of squirrels and enjoy squirrel snacks :-)

Ecology and Conservation in the North Cascades

Speakers include: Katy Stuart (UW), and from PBI Peter Morrison, Asako Yamamuro and Kim Romain-Bondi

A Methow Conservancy First Tuesday program.

The event is free and open to everyone.

For more information, contact Mary at 996-2870 or info@methowconservancy.org

The Grange will open at 6:30 pm and free refreshments will be provided.